

20:00, 18.09.2014

THE KNIGHT'S MOVE: KUNLÉ ADEYEMI

Lecture

“We’re living in interesting times in Africa. The continent is facing both huge opportunities and challenges”, according to the Nigerian architect and designer Kunlé Adeyemi. After having worked for OMA for eight years he founded his own architecture office NLÉ in 2010. His philosophy is based on the belief that the cities of the developing world will generate solutions for the larger world and the challenges of the unstoppable urbanization and growing number of megacities worldwide.

Read more about Adeyemi in an interview on Pop-Up City, together with Open! mediapartner of The Knight's Move. More info on the website of Stroom.

The Knight's Move is organized by Stroom Den Haag i.c.w. Lectoraat Art Public Space (LAPS) and Stedelijk Museum Amsterdam. Special thanks to Creative Industries Fund NL and Haagse Bluf Fonds.

Related posts:

1. The Knight's Move: Kunlé Adeyemi
2. The Knight's Move: Rowan Moore

3. The Knight's Move: Rowan Moore
4. The Knight's Move: Edward Skidelsky
5. The Knight's Move: Edward Skidelsky